WALL STREET EXPLOSION COMPLETELY BAFFLES OFFICERS

CUSTOM HOUSE IS MARKED BY BOMB HURLERS

Warning is Given the Collector of Internal Revenue Monday

"TUESDAY AT 2:00 P. M."

Fischer, Eccentric Radical Throws No Light On the Explosion

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—Just as the September grand jury was today beginning the most searching probe in the history of New York, in an effort to solve the great Wall-st explosion it was learned that William H. Edwards, collector of internal revenue received warning that an attempt would be made tomorrow to blow up the custom house.

The threat to Collector Edwards was written on a postcard which was sent through the mails. It was signed "A Citizen." The card was turned over to the custodian of the custom house while Postmaster Patton and the department of justice was notified. "It was the most direct warning I ever saw," said Collector Edwards. "The sender of the card threatened to blow up the building at 2 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon."

"The warning has some of the employees scared, but the building is under strong guard. I can assure you that I will be on the job as usual tomorrow afternoon. I found the card on my desk when I arrived at work this morning."

Twenty-two persons, including several who saw the fatal Wall-st blast, were summoned to testify before the grand jury. Among the witnesses were: Wilbur Fuller, Superintendent of the Jersey City trucking division of the Dupont Powder Co.

Dunham Beldon, a druggist of South Orange, N. J., whose motor car was parked between the offices of J. P. Morgan & Co. and the U. S. sub-treasury when the explosion occurred.

Henry W. Wasserman of Brooklyn, an eye witness, and three of the grand jury witnesses told District Attorney Swann that they saw a vehicle which they believed to be a Dupont delivery wagon in the vicinity of the Broad and Wall-st between 11 and 12 o'clock Thursday.

Edward Fischer, who gave warning of a bomb explosion in Wall-st to several friends was grilled for two hours after his arrival from Hamilton, Ont., but could throw no light upon the outrage.

A. Mitchell Palmer, attorney general, who has been investigating the Wall-st explosion, has left New York. It is believed he has gone to Stroudsburg, Pa., his home. He left no word regarding his return.

ADAMSVILLE FOLK HURT IN ACCIDENT

Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland Hunter and children—Earl, Carrie and Mabel, Mrs. Ira Thomas and Walter McConnell, all of Adamsville are confined to their homes suffering from injuries they received when two autos crashed together on the Adamsville road, near John Bunting's home, Saturday night.

Charles Swope, Adamsville farmer was driving the automobile that collided with the Hunter machine. He was uninjured.

Hunter's car turned over after being struck and pinned Mr. Hunter, who is a garage owner at Adamsville, beneath the steering wheel. Mrs. Hunter and her children and Mrs. Thomas, were thrown clear of the wreckage. Mrs. Hunter and Mrs. Thomas suffered broken ribs.

Swope and McConnell who were the only occupants of Swope's machine, were thrown out of the car when it turned on its side after hitting the Hunter auto.

McConnell was cut about the head. Cleveland Hunter had his head and hips injured.

Passing motorists assisted in removing the injured occupants from the wreckage. A physician was called from Zanesville and the injured members of the party were taken to their homes.

According to Hunter, Swope's machine was on the wrong side of the road. The cars were going in opposite directions.

COX STARTS BACK FROM CALIFORNIA SPEAKING ENROUTE

SAN DIEGO, CAL., Sept. 20.—With his speech here today, Governor Cox turned the outermost mark of his swing around the circle and is now homeward bound. Regarding this section of California as perhaps the most pro-league of the west, the governor planned to emphasize domestic issues in his speech here and at Los Angeles tonight.

The Japanese situation will come in for discussion at the hands of the governor in both addresses.

Governor Cox has been greatly impressed by the reports of the transformation of southern California as a result of the development of the Imperial Valley irrigation project.

Governor Cox is expected to touch upon the tariff question. At practically every stop made yesterday during the journey from San Francisco crowds met the governor at stations and urged him to make speeches. Although he appeared on the rear platform and spoke a few words of greeting, he declined to discuss political issues. "I should consider it a violation of the proprieties to make a political address on the Sabbath," the governor said.

LONDON, Sept. 20.—Altho in the extremity of weakness Terence MacSwiney, the hunger striking Lord Mayor of Cork, seemed brighter mentally today. MacSwiney who is now in the thirty-ninth day of his self-imposed starvation, sent a message of good cheer to the eleven Sinn Fein hunger strikers in the Cork jail.

MacSwiney spoke to those about him. He attributed his grasp on life to the consolation he received from his religion.

All of the eleven Sinn Fein hunger strikers in the Cork jail were in a critical condition today. This was the forty-second day of their self-imposed starvation.

Another appeal has been made to American authorities on behalf of Joseph Kenney, one of the prisoners who appears to be on the verge of mental collapse.

He was married in the United States and naturalized in Montana. He was arrested charged with having a rifle and ammunition in his possession. He denied having munitions in his home.

Septimus C. Divan, 353 north Eighth-st., was seriously injured about the back and left side Sunday morning at 11:30 o'clock when he fell from a plum tree at his home. He and his wife were just about to start in an automobile for Frazesburg, where they expected to move soon to make their future home.

Mr. Divan decided to pick a few plums to take to a sick lady, the mother of Mrs. Divan's sister-in-law, Mrs. Lena Noland, at Frazesburg. Mr. Divan had turned to come down out of the tree and was about to step onto the ladder when the limb on which he was standing broke off precipitating him a distance of eight feet to the ground. He lost consciousness for a few minutes and was carried to his home by Glenn Reamer and others.

It is feared that the upper part of his back is broken. Arrangements were made to take him to the City hospital Monday afternoon and an x-ray examination is to be made to determine the exact nature of his injuries. Dr. E. C. Carr and Dr. Jesse McClain are the attending physicians.

ITALIAN PREMIER BELIEVES DANGER OF REVOLT OVER

ROME, Sept. 20.—An agreement has been reached between the iron and steel workers and the factory owners, by which labor will share in the control of industry. It was announced today. A committee of 12 will be appointed to work out a plan which will be enacted into industrial reform by parliament.

ROME, Sept. 19, Via London, Sept. 20.—Premier Gioiotti whose efforts to bring about an understanding between the iron and steel workers and the factory owners seem to have been successful believes that all danger of a political revolution and civil war in Italy is now past.

The premier regards the system of modified soviet, by which the workmen are given a voice in the control of the industry to be a forward step which will be followed in other countries. "The world is in a state of economic upheaval and statesmen cannot prevent the forward march of events," said the premier. "Statesmen must recognize this and adapt themselves to the new conditions. The same kind of trouble we have had in Italy is prevalent everywhere in some form or another. In England the workmen are seeking reforms and a voice in the management of industry. France is quiet just now, but doubtless her time will come. We are sympathetic with the aspirations of our workers and it is my desire to get the men back to work."

Premier Gioiotti denied any Russian gold had been received in Italy to support the Italian Soviets. The men seized the ideas of the workers' councils because it fitted in with their desires. "The mill owners cannot go on forever raising wages. This knowledge will be brot home to the workers when part of the responsibility for the continuation of industry is taken into their own hands."

The workers will get the following benefits. 1. Increase in wages. 2. Workmen thru accredited representatives have authority in directing the work in factories. 3. Annual vacations to be granted.

Wants Child's Custody

In the case of Emory Schupp against Ruth Schupp a motion has been filed by the plaintiff to modify the former decree so that the custody of the child, June Schupp, will be transferred from the defendant to the plaintiff on the ground that the defendant is not morally fit to be entrusted with the child's custody. The hearing is set for September 24 at 10:00 a. m.

Sammy Payne pitched a no-hit game against the Newcomerstown club and the Coshocton Regulars won the fourth game of the series by the score of 8 to 0 at the Red Sea park Sunday afternoon.

It was estimated that 3000 fans from Coshocton and Newcomerstown were present at the game. This crowd was the largest the Red Sea park has ever held. The banks on both sides of the ball field were jammed to capacity and the grandstand was overcrowded.

Sammy Payne's no-hit game and Leo Tinger's great playing, both at the bat and in the field piloted the Regulars to victory.

Sammy was working in big league style in this game and both the Coshocton players and fans were rooting for the big Canal Louisville boy constantly. His right arm was in the best of condition, altho he used his wing in Saturday's game against Donison for his old team mates from Wheeling, W. Va.

Sam held his opponents hitless and runless in nine frames and secured two hits himself. He was the real feature of Sunday's game.

Before the start of the game the odds seemed to favor the Newcomers. (Continued on Page Two)

EVERY ATTEMPT TO FATHOM THE CASE THWARTED

Grand Jury Starts Most Exhaustive Investigation With Slight Hope

HORSESHOE CLUE FAILS

Sleuths Blame Explosion On Small Group of Men or An Individual

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—The Wall-st bomb blast was still a mystery today after four days and nights of relentless search by every agency of the police and detectives. It was admitted that no arrest seemed imminent.

The New York county grand jury began taking what promises to become the most drastic investigation ever conducted in this city. Edward Fischer who sent warnings to at least two persons and who was later arrested in Canada as instance was summoned before the grand jury despite the fact that he is admitted deficient mentally and irresponsible.

Fischer arrived here this morning from Hamilton on a charge of two detectives of the New York police department. Fischer was cheerful and apparently indifferent to the wide spread notoriety he had acquired. To a small army of reporters who surrounded him, Fischer announced he had nothing to say but might talk later in the day. After breakfast at a small restaurant, in 42nd-st he was taken to the criminal court for examination preliminary to his appearance before the grand jury.

Investigators from the New York fire department found a magazine somewhere in the New York district from which a large amount of explosives had been removed. They are running down this clue.

The last to die as result of the explosion is an unidentified man. This man may or may not have perished with the secret in his possession. His description, as given by the officers, is: Height 5 feet 8 inches, weight 145 pounds, hair light brown, long and combed straight back, general appearance, smooth shaven, blue eyes, small chin, good teeth and muscular. He was about 20 years of age.

It was reported the man had been employed as a messenger for a Wall-st broker but this theory was discarded on closer scrutiny of the body. The hands were found to be calloused and the nails black with oil and grease.

Most of the secret service operatives believe the driver of the wagon containing the infernal machine escaped a few minutes before the explosion. If, as now believed, it was the driver who dropped anarchist literature in a mail box at Broadway and Cedar-st Thursday, he had evidently walked from Broad and Wall-sts to Broadway and then turned north on Broadway since Cedar-st does not extend east of Broadway.

After tracing two of the horseshoes to the shop where the horse had been shod, the investigators ran up against a new obstacle. The farrier could not remember anything about the man who had the work done. The horse had been shod at Finegan & Kyle's in Chambers-st several weeks before the explosion. An employee, John Haggerty, recognized the shoes by a private mark. He explained that he always placed this mark on his work to identify it afterwar if identification should be necessary. I had probably half a dozen different horses every day and I cannot remember anything in particular about this one, said Haggerty. "I cannot even remember whether the man had the appearance or accent of a foreigner."

William J. Flynn, chief of the United States secret service agents holds the theory that the wagon with the bomb came to New York from New Jersey over one of the ferry boats that lands at a downtown pier. It is evident the federal sleuths are of the opinion that the explosion was the work of a small group of men or an individual.

After a talk with Robert A. Pope, brother-in-law of Fischer, Flynn does not hope for much information from Fischer himself. Unquestionably Fischer is insane, Flynn said, "and it was a coincidence that he happened to guess the time of the explosion, but we cannot afford to neglect any angle of the case. We may gain an important clue from the trivial thing. It will be interesting to learn if Fischer still possesses any knowledge of the bomb plot on which to base his warnings."

Carlo Tresca, a radical and formerly identified with the I. W. W., who was reported to the object of police search was found today at "The People's House," at No. 7 E. 15th-st.

"I am not hiding and if the police want me they can easily find me," Tresca said.

With many churches under guard of armed men a number of prominent clergymen preached on the explosion. They united in an appeal for the suppression of the war.

Fine Tribute To French Stability

WE have that of France emerging from the war not only with industries crippled, but with mountainous debts and credit virtually destroyed. A different and amazing story is told by the recent sale of 100,000,000 in new French national bonds at New York. The issue pays 8 per cent interest, by no means an uncommon rate on recent security issues, and the entire amount was so largely oversubscribed in less than an hour that subscriptions in excess of $5000 must be scaled down by one-half and those of larger amounts by a still greater fraction.

In view of all the circumstances no finer tribute to the good faith and stability of a country was ever paid. It was more than a vote of confidence by one republic in the honesty, financing ability and resources of another republic. An ordinary vote of confidence may mean little, but this one was backed by the hard cash of those who voted. It was the more significant because the great number of subscriptions running from $500 to $1000 brot the average in all subscriptions down to about $300.

Our Merchant Marine

IT was not unusual in early days to reckon the wealth of American states by the number of seagoing ships they owned, just as today the number of automobiles owned in proportion to a state's population is accepted as an indication of prosperity.

Thus in the year 1770, Massachusetts was reputed to have owned one sea-going ship for every 100 inhabitants. At that period according to "America's Merchant Marine," a study by the Bankers Trust Company of New York one third of the vessels flying the British flag was American built. By 1800, the United States with a population of 5,300,000 possessed a merchant marine of 972,402 tons, or one ton of shipping for every six inhabitants.

This high ratio of tonnage to population was practically maintained up to the period of the Civil War when, with more than 5,000,000 tons of merchant shipping, the United States was the world's second maritime nation. In 1861 America had 2,496,894 tons of shipping engaged in the foreign trade alone, compared to Great Britain's 3,179,683 tons.

These figures indicate that the present position of the United States as a close second in world maritime standing is not new to history. It is merely a revival of America's old time shipping prestige. The new phase is the rapidity with which that prestige was revived as indicated by these figures from the Bankers Trust Company's study.

In June 1914 the United States possessed only 2,027,000 tons of sea-going ships. Five years later, in June 1919 the American tonnage of sea-going vessels was 9,743,000. During these five years the world's output of ships was over 14,000,000 tons and the United States alone produced more than half of that tonnage.

New York Day-By-Day

By O. O. MONTYRE

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—A page from the diary of a modern Samuel Pepys: Up betimes watching the steel workers walk on dizzy beams across the way. Having no liking for work, I went to the great railway station, a hurly burly place that fascinates. Talked with the girl at the book stall, a fairish maid albeit she chewed a wax substance, which is now the habit. Met my wife poor wretch, at the Peg Wolfington Coffee House, a quaint old place of old prints and came LeRoy Ripley, the artist, newly come from the Olympic Games abroad and some boydenish mads, all in a gay humour. The coffee as fine as ever I tasted but poorly served.

Home and at my labours and getting a good measure done, which is pleasing. Helped to hang some pictures, which I did with ill grace, and on the back of a chair slipped and tumbled against a long mirror in the door, cracking it which will cost me several pounds and I was in a high rage until it became amusing and then the household shrieked with laughter.

For a walk thru the town, putting into see Roy Burton, the pamphleteer, and Mistress Zoe Beckley there, she being a lady I admire very much. And she told of seeing the German Kaiser recently and also his son, the Crown Prince.

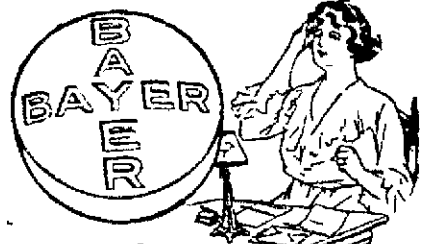

In the evening to see Arliss, the play actor, and a very inept play it was. But young Vincent Astor sat in a box and I whistled away the tedious watching him and deciding how I would spend his gold if I had it. And so home and to bed.

The Broadway set was saddened by the tragic end of Olive Thomas in Paris by poison. She was the type Broadway admired—because she would share her last penny with a friend. Just four weeks ago she was given a party in a well known cafe before sailing for Paris with her husband, Jack Pickford. She was especially gay and looked forward to her journey. There is a camaraderie along Broadway that is fine when one rises above the rabble and receives the public acclaim. But it is different when one slips and falls by the wayside. The day after Miss Thomas passed on a young girl who was just as popular in her day was found dead in a tiny Bronx tenement flat. Only a sister attended the funeral.

It used to be that the lone woman with a small child in the barber shop resulted in subdued embarrassment that filled the place. A man customer would not take off his coat and collar. The Turkish bath houses are suffering from the effects of prohibition. It used to be that they were filled by 2 a. m. with rather disheveled citizens who took this means of getting in shape for the next day. Several bath houses in the Tenderloin have closed. Others are doing only half the business they formerly did. Many are advertising cut prices. Recently the bath house rubbers went on strike and the employers made no effort to get them back. The strike died of inanition—some returned to their old posts and others sought new vocations where they could wear clothes and see a little daylight.

Hessian Flies Emerging Will Injure Early Wheat

Early sown wheat is again expected to be infested with the Hessian fly. The flies began emerging early in September. Eggs were found on volunteer wheat, the presence of which makes it impossible to exterminate this insect. Old wheat stubble collected at Columbus on September 1 gave up flies during the following week. Emergence is expected to continue until the safe sowing dates suggested by the entomologists of the state. The dates may be obtained from county agricultural agents or the Ohio State university, Columbus.

WALT MASON

THE BIG SIGN

They've put a monstrous wooden sign, where it obstructs my view. I cannot see the sunlight shine upon the waters blue. The sign appeals to passing rubes, and asks them for their trade. It says "Eat Bulger's Tires and Tubes—the Kind that Mother Made." Before I lay aside the lyres whose strings I madly scratch, I pose I'll buy a thousand tires, with inner tubes to match. But take this statement from my hand, and paste it on your chest. In tires that bear the Bulger brand I never will invest. For Bulger's sign offends my eye and makes my spirit sore, shuts out a fraction of the sky, degrades the blue sea's shore. I show that signboard to my friends and they get mad with me, and say "Our trade with Bulger ends, when crimes like this we see." Old Bulger's tires may be as fine as any casings made; but when he tells us that heavily sign, he lost, for keeps, my trade. I'll tail along on weary limbs or drive two claybank maros, or run my car upon its rims, before I'll buy his wares.

EASY TO DARKEN

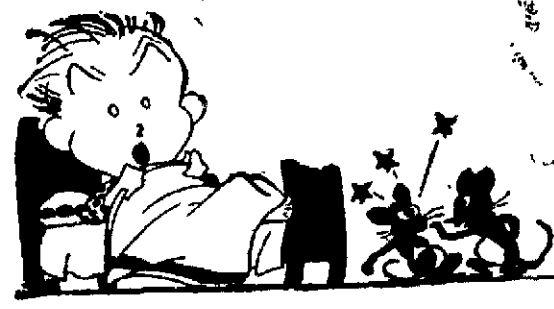

YOUR GRAY HAIR

You can Bring Back Color and Lustre with Sage Tea and Sulphur.

When you darken your hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur, no one can tell because it's done so naturally, so evenly. Preparing this mixture, though, at home is messy and troublesome. At little cost you can buy at any drug store the ready-to-use preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning all gray hair disappears, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully darkened, glossy and luxuriant.

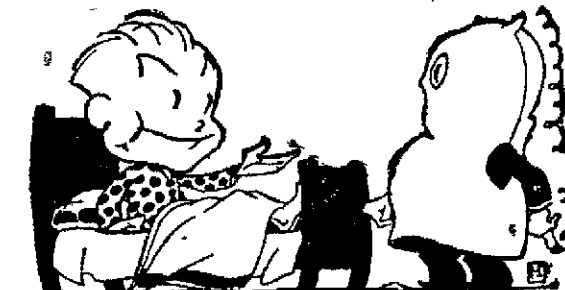

Gray, faded hair, though no disgrace, is a sign of old age, and as we all desire a youthful and attractive appearance, get busy at once with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound and look years younger.

Contractor Declares Tanlac Has Restored His Health After He Almost Gave Up Hope

"If it hadn't been for Tanlac I don't believe I'd be alive today," said William F. Keys, 842 Lake Street, Toledo, Ohio.

"Three years ago my stomach went back on me and other troubles set in. I had indigestion and lived almost entirely on liquid diet and even this diet agreed with me. Dizzy, fainting spells often came on me suddenly, my kidneys were all out of order and my back hurt me so bad I could hardly move. Last year I underwent a painful operation but that left me in a weaker condition than ever. I began to fall off in weight and during the past six months I have been unable to attend to my business hardly at all.

"But I am today a well, strong and healthy man and Tanlac is the cause of it all. I have gained sixteen pounds in weight and I feel as fine as I ever did in my life. My appetite can't be beat and I can eat anything and digest it perfectly. My kidneys are in good condition and my back is no longer a pain to me. I never have dizzy, fainting spells any more and I can attend to my business as well as I ever could."

Tanlac is sold in Coshocton by Siegrist & Williams and in Warsaw by J. D. Lawson.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Frees Another Woman From Suffering.

Bayonne, N. J.—"Before I was married I suffered a great deal with periodical pains. I had pains in my side and back and also headaches, and got so weak I could not do anything. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and soon felt better. Now I am married and have two little boys. Before the first one came I was weak and nervous, could not eat and was dizzy. After I took the Vegetable Compound I could work and eat. Now I am strong and recommend your medicine to my friends."—Mrs. ANNA STEVA, 25 East 17th Street, Bayonne, N. J.

Keep Your Blood Pure Nature Will Do the Rest

Did you know that ninety per cent of all human ailments depend upon the condition of your blood?

Nature gives her warnings in various unmistakable ways, so that when the appetite fails and you become weak and listless and a general run-down condition seems to take possession of the whole body, it is an unfailing sign that impurities will steadily accumulate until your general health will be seriously affected. You should recognize the importance, therefore, of very promptly cleansing out the system, and keeping the blood supply pure and robust.

Get a bottle of S. S. S. at your drug store to day, and note how promptly it builds up the appetite and gives new strength and vitality. Write for free literature and medical advice to Chief Medical Adviser, 153 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga.

HAD TO HOLD ON TO SIDE OF BED ON RISING MORNINGS

Back hurt so bad couldn't straighten up till he had walked round a while. This farmer's kidneys caused much trouble, but "Dreco" set them right again.

"Many a morning I've had to hold to the bed in order to get up, then walk around for a while before I could straighten up," said Mr. Albert Logan, who is a farmer living near Athens, Ohio.

"For five years I've been in miserable health. My kidneys were weak and I'd be up five and six times during the night from them. I had terrible pains in my back, my liver was lazy, and I'd get so dizzy sometimes I'd have to stop a few minutes till it passed off. My stomach was also out of order and often swelled up like an army balloon from the gas in it. I was constipated and so nervous I couldn't sleep much."

"Things are different now, though, for I jump right out of bed into my clothes, and ready for a big breakfast. Don't have to get up during the night a single time; bowels acting regularly; no more dizzy spells, and I sleep like a log. All this change was brought on by taking Dreco, and I think it the greatest medicine I ever saw."

All druggists now sell Dreco and it is being especially introduced in Coshocton by Page & Lorenz drug store.

Cover Crop On Corn Land Gaining Favor

The sowing of a cover crop of rye and vetch on corn land to be replanted to corn is being done this fall more than ever, particularly in the rolling and hilly sections of Ohio. The seed for this crop may be sown as soon as the corn is cut. A satisfactory mixture consists of five pecks of rye and two pecks of vetch, sown the same as wheat at the rate of six pecks to the acre.

While the price of vetch seed is pretty high, enough seed will be produced on a small acreage in one season to enable the farmer to employ this practice on a more extensive scale the following year, with a relatively small outlay. If the crop is allowed to mature, upwards of 20 bushels per acre of the mixture can be obtained. The vetch should be inoculated if sown on ground on which it has not been grown before. The cover crop not only prevents washing but adds nitrogen and organic matter to the soil and may be pastured in the spring.
